Request for Labour Market Opinion Exemption (Application Form) ........................................ 11

BSOs (Border Services Officers)
• Are the men and women you encounter at the border and are the first officer that you will see when you enter Canada
• These officers may require foreign nationals seeking to enter Canada for the purpose of conducting business to present these documents:
  o Work Permit (R196)
  o Labour Market Opinion (R200)

There are exceptions to the above:
• Ruling R186 – not everyone needs a work permit. Such cases are generally restricted to instances in which the individual will not enter into the Canadian labour market directly, the primary source of remuneration for business activities is outside Canada, and the principal place of business remains predominantly outside Canada.
• Ruling R204 – R208 – some jobs are exempt from a Labour Market Opinion
It is important to remember the following changes have been implemented at the border:

It is important for visitors to be prepared when coming to Canada to ensure the minimal amount of delay and inquiries.

Business Visitors

- Business Visitors do not need a work permit (Ruling R186(a))\(^1\)
- Business Visitor activity falls under R187(2)\(^2\)

Business visitors usually stay in Canada for a few days or a few weeks. To be considered a business visitor you must show that:

- Your stay is temporary and you do not plan to enter the Canadian labour market
- Your main place of business and source of income is located outside of Canada
- Profits from your business will accrue outside of Canada
- You can provide documents that support your application
- You:
  - Have a valid travel document, such as a passport
  - Have enough money for your stay and to return home
  - Plan to leave Canada at the end of your visit
  - Do not pose criminal, security or health risks to Canadians.

Visitors must be able to provide proof of each of the following items:

1. Citizenship of the United States or Mexico;
2. Business activities as described in Appendix 1603.A.1 (selected summary below);
3. Activities are international in scope;
4. No intent to enter the Canadian labour market;
5. The primary source of remuneration remains outside Canada;
6. The principal place of business remains outside Canada; and
7. Compliance with existing immigration/admissibility requirements for temporary entry.

Application:

1. Business visitors must apply at a Point of Entry (POE); an application cannot be made prior to arriving in Canada.
2. Business visitors may be admitted at the Primary Inspection Line by the BSO if they are satisfied all requirements have been met.

EXCEPTION: Persons applying for entry under the “after-sales service provision,” are a mandatory referral to Immigration Secondary,

Letter of Invitation
Companies should provide their visitors with 2 copies of a letter of invitation to be provided to the BSO at the POE. The letter should spell out:

- Who the applicant is (full legal name), applicant’s date of birth, applicant’s citizenship, the company they work for, and their position at the company including any specialized knowledge statement
- Where they are planning to go during their visit and where they are visiting from
- Why they are on this visit, specifically what they will be doing at the host company site
- How long they intend to remain in Canada

The answers to the above questions should satisfy why you need to be physically present.

Don’t use ‘technical speak’, use only layman’s terms in the letter and in your conversations with the BSO. Visitors who will be having multiple meetings over a specified period of time can request to be put on a “visitor record” to facilitate repeated trips for the same purpose. This action is at the sole discretion of the officer in Immigration Secondary. and will require the above information. See below for sample letter.

Business Visitors: Arriving (Checklist)
When you arrive in Canada, you will be greeted by an officer of the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA). The CBSA is responsible for protecting the borders and points of entry to Canada. The CBSA officer will ask you the purpose of your visit and confirm that you meet the requirements for admission to Canada, whether you have a temporary resident visa or not. You should have all relevant documents on hand to present to the officer when you arrive. These documents include, but are not limited to:

1. A valid passport or travel document that will be valid until the end of your stay
2. If applicable, a temporary resident visa
3. Letters of support from your parent company and a letter of invitation from the Canadian host business OR a Letter of Recognition from CBSA (applies to International Events and Convention Services Program. See below for information)
4. A copy of any original contracts, original service/sales agreements, warranty etc. to support your visit
5. 24 hour contact details of your business host in Canada
6. Proof that you have enough money for both your stay in Canada and your return home
7. The BSO will also ask you what goods, personal and/or commercial, you are bringing with you. You must report whether you are bringing in excess of $10,000 CDN with you.

For more information on importing goods to Canada, see http://cbsa-asfc.gc.ca/import/menu-eng.html
NOTE:

You will not be allowed into Canada if you give false or incomplete information, or if you do not satisfy the officer that you are eligible for entry into Canada. You will also have to satisfy the officer that you will leave Canada at the end of your authorized stay in Canada.

Temporary Foreign Worker Unit
The CBSA is encouraging Canadian businesses to utilize the services of the Temporary Foreign Worker Unit (TFWU). The TFWU is willing to look at business visitors and foreign worker applications in advance to help ensure a smooth border crossing.

You (as the inviting company) or your visitor (as the invitee) can call the unit, and leave a voice mail and wait for a call back. This happens relatively quickly and is the most efficient way to process requests.

Once you have received a call back, you will send the application and documentation either by email or fax. The TFWU will then provide a written opinion that should be taken to the border with the rest of the documentation outlined in this guide. While the written opinion of the TFWU is not a guarantee that the business visitor will be admitted, it allows the BSO to feel more comfortable by having that professional opinion.

The normal turnaround time for this service is 5 business days. (In some cases of high periods of activity, or periods surrounding traditional vacation times, the turnaround can be longer, i.e. up to 12 business days). To reach the TFWU, please use the following:

Toronto (serving Ontario region)

Toronto Temporary Foreign Worker Unit
Telephone: 416-954-7954
Fax: 416-973-9768
E-mail: TFWU-Toronto-UTET@ic.gc.ca

The application (below) provides a list of documentation required from the inviting company (the “employer”) and the activities of the visitor(s) under “Main duties of the job”. Note, it is the same application used to hire a foreign worker; so much of it does not apply for business visitors. The key thing to remember is to describe the business activity (e.g. sales, meetings, etc.) in the Details of the Job section; in this case the exemption is as a Business Visitor, so again select the activity from those listed in this guide. The unit needs to ensure the visitor is not working, so for those with a technical background, it should be clear that they are there for the sales contract, etc. not to do hands-on work.

Since the visitor is not a foreign worker, they will also have to send the information as outlined in this guide, including the 2 letters of support (one from the inviting company and one from the invited company). It must be clear what the business activities will be (i.e. sales meeting or whatever the case may be), and should include any pertinent contracts, purchase orders, etc. and must include the bio page from their passport.

This process is not mandatory, and may be a bit onerous for “day-to-day” regular business visitors, and may be reserved for more critical meetings to ensure no glitches at the border.
Sample Letter of Invitation from Canadian company
The letter should be on the Canadian host company’s letterhead.

Appendix 1603.A.1 - Business Activities Summary:

- After Sales Service – Installers, repair and maintenance personnel, and supervisors, possessing specialized knowledge essential to a seller’s contractual obligation, performing services or training workers to perform services, pursuant to a warranty or other service contract incidental to the sale of commercial or industrial equipment or machinery, including computer software, purchased from an enterprise located outside Canada during the life of the warranty or service agreement.
  - After-sales services include those provided by persons repairing and servicing, supervising installers, and setting up and testing commercial or industrial equipment (including computer software).
  - “Setting up” does not include hands-on installation generally performed by construction or building trades (electricians, pipe fitters, etc.).
  - R187 also applies to persons seeking entry to repair or service specialized equipment, purchased or leased outside Canada, provided the service is being performed as part of the original or extended sales agreement, lease agreement, warranty, or service contract.
  - Service personnel coming to perform service work on equipment or machinery that is either out of warranty, or where no service contract exists, continue to require a positive LMO and a work permit.
  - Service contracts must have been negotiated as part of the original sales or lease agreements or be an extension of the original agreement.
  - Service contracts negotiated with third parties after the signing of the sales or lease agreement are not covered by this exemption. If, however, the original sales agreement indicates that a third company has been or will be contracted to service the equipment, R187 applies.
  - Where the work is not covered under a warranty, a confirmed work permit is required.
  - If the job will last for more than 2 days, the BSO must put applicant on a “visitor record”.
  - The paperwork that the applicant has should outline the specialized knowledge of the applicant, and also be identified in the letter of invitation.

- Distribution – Transportation operators transporting goods or passengers to Canada from the United States. International Events and Convention Services Program (IECSP)

If you are a convention, meeting or event planner, trade show organizer, or if you are involved in promoting Canada as a destination for a concert, art show or exhibition, this information will be of special interest to you.

The Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA), together with the help of other government departments and agencies, has designed the International Events and Convention Services Program (IECSP) to assist you in the planning process of your event being held in Canada.

By using this CBSA service early in your planning process, you will be aware of any Canadian border-related requirements for your event.

The IECSP coordinator is able to access a vast network of Government of Canada agencies and departments on your behalf, and has the expertise to advise you on what you need to know about bringing your type of event to Canada, including information on:

- the Letter of Recognition - a letter of introduction, issued by the IECSP coordinator, which you may present to the CBSA upon your arrival in Canada to facilitate the entry process;
- border-related requirements, exemptions and services that may apply to your specific event;
- moving your goods from the Canadian border to your specific event;
- non-Canadians working in Canada;
- visitor visa requirements for persons from countries that require a visa to visit Canada;
- duties and taxes;
- Canada's goods and services tax (GST) or harmonized sales tax (HST); and
- security deposits.

For further details call one of our IECSP coordinators (provided in this brochure). They are available to answer your questions and provide advice.
